

CLASSIFIED SENATE

SEPTEMBER 2019
EDITION 6

The Community of Classified Professionals

Let's Get to Know Each Other!

SOCIAL MEDIA PRIZE OPPORTUNITY

The Classified Senate is building our classified community on social media and you have a chance to win a prize for participating!

Join the fun on Facebook, Twitter, or Instagram and get to know each other! It's easy. All you need to do is list two of your favorite hobbies, activities, or sports that you participate in and post it on the Senate's social media. That's it! Every participant will automatically be entered in the prize drawing.

Prizes include a Starbucks gift card, Norco College swag, and other items.

Thank you to Miguel Castro, Library Technician for the contest idea. If you have an idea, please share it with us to help build our #workfamily.

PROMOTION NEWS

TRAVONNE BELL, ATHLETIC FIELD CARETAKER

In January 2016, Travonne Bell started his career at Norco College as a Custodian. He worked the late afternoon to evening shift and quickly began to become a part of the classified professional family. He took on leadership roles in CSEA and joined college committees such as BFPC.

In July of 2017, Trae was promoted to Athletic Field Caretaker. He enjoyed the job of taking care of the soccer field and surrounding areas. It was a change of pace and a flashback to his time at UCLA in the grounds department.

When the opportunity arose to apply for the Custodial Manager position at Norco College, Trae came to NC with 12 plus years in the field of Facilities, and a very strong background in Custodial. He was offered the promotion and began in his capacity as Custodial Manager in September. Trae is one of a few handful of classified professionals to be promoted at Norco College.

During his time as a classified professional, Trae served as an Executive board member of CSEA Chapter 535 as the Secretary for a year and Norco College's Member at Large for a little over a year and half.

"I learned a lot and take the experience that I have gained as a CSEA representative into my leadership role of Custodial Manager. I have always believed in service and I will continue to serve here at Norco College in my new role!"

Trae recognizes that he may not be classified anymore but proudly still declares "I'm in! I respect all the hard work classified staff do every single day."

He is currently working on his master's degree and looks forward to many more years with Norco College.

Congratulations Trae!

CLASSIFIED PROFESSIONAL COMMUNITY

Have you joined the Classified Professional Community of social media yet? Connect with your fellow classified professionals for all the fun! If you would like to submit a photo/story for social media or the newsletter, please send it to the Communications Committee. We are always looking to highlight classified professionals!

Classified professionals were busy this month with the start of the semester. From computers, to the athletic field, serving students, and everywhere else that makes the college run.

In between, we managed to enjoy our monthly classified professional "Lunch Together" where everyone is invited to stop by with your lunch and just catch up! Join us at the next one on October 11th.

A few classified professionals took part in the Dodgeball Tournament (see the videos on social media!) and Read 2 Succeed. We wished Derek Sy a happy birthday too!

You can see all of the pictures from these events and more on social media. Follow us on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram!
